Introducing Our New Secretary

I joined the breathing population during a rare ice storm in San Antonio at Fort Sam Houston. My 18 month old brother anxiously awaited my arrival so he could have someone to pick on (I mean tutor). My father probably wasn't aware of it at the time, but he was on his way to becoming a career Army man (he was in the infantry in World War II, and also served in Korea). My mother was unaware of what to expect as an "Army dependent" but by the tender young age of 21, with two children in diapers at her feet, she was well into the thick of it. Completing our family, my little sister was born prematurely in Indianapolis - causing Dad to miss his only chance to attend the Indy 500 in person. This may be the beginning of my interest in cars - witnessing my father's life-long devotion to taking care of, rebuilding, and restoring all makes and models - and watching him listen to the Indy 500 over the radio every year!

One of the best - and worst - parts of being an Army brat is moving to different parts of the country/world. Travels took me to 43 of the 50 states; Okinawa for 18 months; and Germany for three and a half years - and all of that travel was completed before I entered high school. Leaving the military behind at Dad's retirement, we eventually wound up in Yakima where I finished my required education. Not ready for college I accepted the position of manager in a brand new Luv's Hallmark Shop in Moscow, Idaho. (My informal education continued with learning about the small towns of Idaho where most of my customers came from: Lapwai, Genesee, Juliaetta, etc.). Met my first husband there, and before I knew it we were on our way to joining the Air Force. Pilot training was at Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, Tx. It was an interesting year that included the birth of our first son, Jon.

Leaving Big Spring to head for Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio, brought more informal

Tiramisu Toffee Dessert Recipe | Allrecipes

Tiramisu Toffee Dessert

This is a nice version of the popular Italian pick-me-up dessert. The toffee candy in this recipe adds a delightful crunchiness to the smooth creamy whipped cream quality of an already perfect dessert.

Additional: 1 hr
Total: 1 hr 20 mins
Servings: 12

- ½ cup chocolate syrup
- 2 cups heavy whipping cream

Cindy's Introduction, con't

education for me in the field of medicine. Jon was born with several problems and had to be near a large hospital. While hubby continued his journey down the pilot path I gladly accepted the role of communicating to our families about Jon's issues. Before the internet, this was challenging, to say the least. Jon's purpose in life, as I see it, was to help me grow up. I learned many things that I never knew I needed to know. When Jon departed this world at 9 months old, I became a certified adult.

We finished hubby's Air Force career (of six years) at Beale Air For Base near Sacramento, where my second son was born. Ryan was healthy, so life was good! We moved to Spokane to be near Fairchild with the hopes of hubby joining the Air National Guard to help him get a foot in the door with his next career path as a pilot with a major airline. Eventually it happened - and life was good. A divorce when Ryan was 10, started a whole new path for us. But perseverance with what comes your way helped us be successful. Ryan has a Ph.D. in Behavioral Psychology! Not bad for being raised by a single mom.

I wound up at Mead School District where I was the administrative professional to the superintendent, and executive secretary to the Board of Directors for thirteen years. During those years my family met with one tragedy after another, and by the time I turned 39, I was an orphan. Pretty tough on a person devoted to family. When a new superintendent took the helm at Mead, with a totally opposite leadership agenda of the former superintendent, I resigned and moved on to WSU as an administrative assistant for the next twelve years.

I met Mr. Dale over 20 years ago and have never looked back. His inherent ability with cars was a connection to my dad in my eyes. His devotion to his family won me over. We are the proud owners of a 1966 Dodge Coronet, and a 1974 Dodge Dart. I enjoy helping him, when he lets me, and I enjoy making sure he has the time to putter freely in complete happiness in his garage with a fridge full of ice-cold Budweiser for when the work is done! Life is very good indeed.

Finally, I look forward to being a part of the Gents Team, and especially of being part of something bigger than myself. Let's move forward together, y'all! (No, I don't really talk that way!)
